Background
In the fall of 2016, the University purchased the Main Street theater block, 689-717 Main Street, with long range plans to house a performing arts theater for use by FSU and the community, to create laboratory and entrepreneurship space and the near-term opportunities to create shared work space for FSU’s game design program and storefront retail space. In addition, the University anticipates planning improvements in the abutting parking lot to support the renovations.

The property, located approximately one mile from the University campus, is comprised of a 30,000 SF lot with a 51,000 SF building. The “block” consists of a two-story commercial building fronting Main Street and the theater itself.

The University has funded preliminary design to identify best and most feasible uses of the theater and abutting commercial space and to develop a project cost projection. A series of initial project phases are anticipated to allow for current University functions to be housed at the property in an incremental fashion, to implement critical repairs and for study and design work to bolster funding applications. Future phases will be subject to the acquisition of financing. The study and design for the theater project is funded by University Funds held by MSCBA.

The proposed future project’s financing plan is a combination of equity from the University’s capital campaign, historic tax credits, New Market tax credits, various arts and theater related grants and potential bond financing.

Project Scope
This authorization is for three enabling projects for building stabilization and for activation of the street level storefront portion of the building that is already in use by the University.

Replacement of the Main Theater Roof, which will not be impacted by the future building renovations

Reactivation of the Main Street Theater Block storefront retail bays which will be occupied

Design and Preconstruction of Parking Deck adjacent to the Theater.
