Ensuring All Students Are Learning: Exploring Direct and Competency- Based Assessment Practices

How can we ensure all students are learning? What are some best practices for traditional assessment of competencies as well as non-traditional approaches such as direct assessment, experiential learning, or apprenticeships? In this session, we will consider a variety of ways to approach the assessment of student learning that leverages what we're already doing well and identifies opportunities for improvement. You are encouraged to bring your questions and ideas to the interactive session.

Friday, February 28th, 2025
